I originally came to Nannup for a job as the caretaker of the (then) Black Cockatoo Hostel. That was in 1992. Things were a bit different then but the charm and character has always been here.

When I left in 1994 I took a little bit of Nannup in my heart and carried it with me, so I was not surprised to find myself jumping at the first opportunity to return here. In 2011 I returned, buying a house 3 years later and settling in to my new home.

I am an honest and straightforward person who is passionate about education and employment, the environment and sustainability. I believe progress is important and that change is inevitable. I hope to have the chance to help the Nannup community navigate the balance.
